Catheter 101:

What is a Catheter?

A catheter is a hollow flexible tube inserted into your bladder allowing your urine to drain freely. Urinary Retention is the body's inability to completely empty the bladder after urination. The most common reason for the insertion of a urinary catheter is to relieve urinary retention*

There are different types of Catheters

Intermittent:

'in / out' self-catheterisation should be considered when a urinary catheter is required to be inserted and removed immediately after the completion of drainage. You can catheterise up to six times a day.

- A 2-way catheter has two channels or lumens. One is for drainage and the other is for the inflation or deflation of the balloon.
 - A 3-way catheter has 3 channels or lumens. The first is for drainage, the second for irrigation and the third for the inflation or deflation of the balloon.

Condom Drainage/ External Catheter:

A condom drainage or external sheath is a urine drainage system for men. You can use condom drainage to prevent bladder accidents or to help with draining your bladder.

Condom Drainage Comparison Chart is also available from Independence Australia. To request please call 1300 788 855

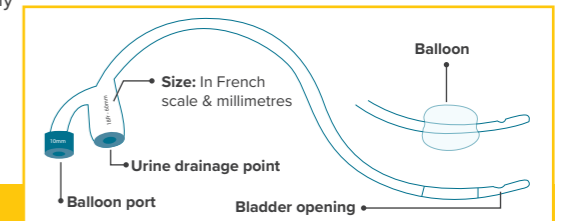

Indwelling:

Short term indwelling catheterisation should be used when bladder drainage is required for up to 14 days. Indwelling catheters can feature 2-way or 3-way channels with a balloon.

Suprapubic:

The first insertion of a suprapubic catheter (SPC) is an invasive procedure where the catheter accesses the bladder directly through the abdomen.

Catheter Features

*Silicone coating:

Makes the catheter more secure and causes less allergies in the patient.

Coude tip: These catheters have a rounded tip that helps it move through the urethra better.

Straight Tip: Most common type used. Uncomplicates insertion.

Urine drainage port: Connects to a urinary drainage bag

Balloon port: The instillation port for balloon inflation

*Touchless:

These catheters come pre-lubricated with a protective sheath that allow for a more sanitary insertion process.

Catheter eyes: The holes which assist the urine to drain effectively.

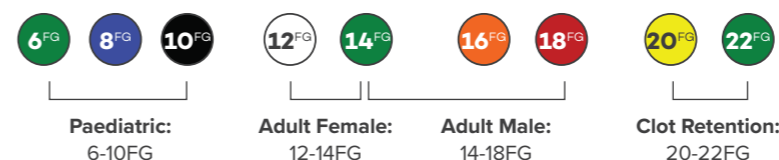

Latex-free: An absolute necessity for those with latex allergies.

Balloon: Anchors the catheter in place in the bladder when filled with sterile water to stated volume

Bladder opening: Catheter Eyelets that allow urine to drain from the bladder to the drainage bag

Size /Length

*Catheter Sizes (FG)

Catheter Lengths:

Paediatric - 30cm
 Female - 26cm
 Male - 43 cm

Material

Catheters come in a variety of materials. It is important to consult an appropriately trained clinician - Urology Nurse, Continence Nurse or Urologist to ensure you have the catheter that most suits your needs.

Balloon

- Quantity (mL) of sterile water that goes into the balloon.
- Avoid normal saline to inflate the balloon as it can crystallise, making the balloon difficult to deflate.

Please note:

This information should only be used as a guide and not as professional medical advice.

TIME FOR CHANGE

It's up to you to make a difference

BARDEX® I.C.

ANTI-INFECTIVE FOLEY CATHETERS
WITH BACTI-GUARD™ SILVER ALLOY COATING AND BARD® HYDROGEL

It's up to you to make a difference - 80% of all nosocomial UTIs are Catheter Associated UTIs¹

You can make a difference

- Switching from standard catheters to silver alloy-coated catheters significantly reduces the risk of Catheters Associated UTIs^{2,3}

Adopting silver alloy catheters is a proven solution

- BARDEX® I.C. Foley Catheters with Bacti-Guard™ silver alloy coating and BARD® Hydrogel have a level one recommendation from the UK Department of Health⁴ and are recognised by the epic guidelines⁵

The efficacy of BARDEX® I.C. Foley Catheters is supported by a wealth of clinical evidence

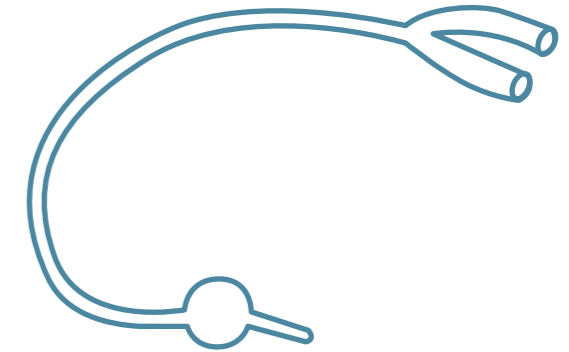

- More than 30 studies have shown a reduction in incidence of Catheter Associated UTIs with BARDEX® I.C. Foley Catheters⁶

Indwelling Catheters

Indwelling catheters, also known as Foley catheters, are narrow, flexible hollow tubes introduced into the bladder through the urethra to drain urine. Suprapubic catheters are inserted through the lower abdomen instead of through the urethra.

How the catheter works

A balloon at the end of the catheter is inflated to prevent the tube from sliding out of the bladder. It is secured loosely to the patient's body near the insertion site and is connected to a urine drainage bag.

How long

Indwelling catheters can remain in the patient's bladder from anywhere between a few hours up to 12 weeks, creating a constant in/out flow. After training, a patient or a medical professional can insert the catheter.

Recommended for

Indwelling catheters are suitable for pre and post surgery to manage incontinence and certain medical conditions. These include urine retention, neurogenic bladder, urethral dilation, gynaecological conditions and nerve damage.

Suprapubic catheters are recommended for the management of medical conditions such as urethral obstruction/stricture, gynaecological conditions and nerve damage. Patients who use a wheelchair may also prefer this form of incontinence aid as it is less likely to be pulled out when transferring.

SupraCath™

Two-way suprapubic catheters with integrated balloon

The flow management range from Endotherapeutics enhances patient comfort and allows maximum drainage.

The SupraCath Advantage

- Soft, medical-grade silicone is less prone to encrustation.
- Depth measurements ensure accurate catheter exchange.
- Integrated balloon facilitates smooth removal, minimising cuffing difficulties.
- The open end reduces blockage and enables over-the-wire exchange of catheters.
- Large side eyes allow maximum drainage.
- Short tip reduces bladder irritation, ideal for long-term drainage.
- Sizes 10 Fr through to 24 Fr in standard and short lengths.

SupraCath now comes with a removable spigot at no extra cost. Try one for free!*

Request a free trial for a first-time user at info@endotherapeutics.com.au and quote SupraCathIA.

*One SupraCath or/and MioValve per patient. A form will be emailed for you to complete the patient's details and required size.

MioValve - Automatic Catheter Valve

- Automatic mechanism: no turning, pressing, locking or unlocking necessary!
- 3-5 weeks of continuous use, replaces 5 manual valves.
- Easy to operate with just one hand, requires no physical strength.
- Attaches quickly and easily to catheter and urine bag.
- Swap between drainage bags with no risk of spillage.

With 100% No Touch Protection, whatever you touch won't touch VaPro catheters.

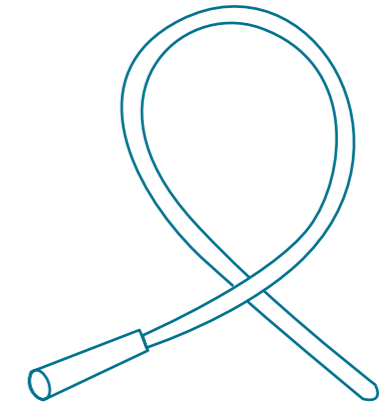

The protective tip and sleeve of VaPro catheters have been tested and have been shown to prevent the transmission of pathogens that may cause UTIs. Don't settle for anything less than 100% No Touch Protection.

Intermittent Catheters

Intermittent catheters are flexible hollow tubes introduced into the bladder to drain urine. They are known as in/out catheters without a balloon.

How the catheter works

The catheter is inserted into the bladder by the patient and, once the retained urine has drained, it's removed and discarded immediately (unless otherwise instructed by the manufacturer). A new catheter is normally used for each catheterisation (refer to manufacturer's instructions). Please note, dilating only catheters do not drain urine.

How long

Patients typically catheterise themselves up to six times a day as per medical advice. Intermittent catheterisation allows normal bladder dynamics and mimics normal voiding.

Recommended for

As the bladder is drained effectively and completely, urinary tract infections cease to be a problem (as they are with indwelling catheters) thus safeguarding the kidneys. Recommended for: Intermittent catheters are often selected by patients for their discretion and for easy management (lifestyle choice). They're also suitable for patients with urinary dysfunction caused by neurological disease.

Introducing GentleCath™ Glide

GentleCath™ Glide... designed to make catheterisation as simple and convenient as possible.

A smooth, slippery, hydrophilic catheter

...ready to use as soon as it's wetted

...with a contamination prevention sleeve^{1,2}

...and FeelClean™ Technology, designed for less messy catheterisation

Personalised instructions: Users can find customised instructions on how to use GentleCath™ and GentleCath™ Glide on the GentleCath™ me+™ website www.gentlecath.com or by scanning the QR code.

www.gentlecath.com

GentleCath™ Glide
that's a relief

Designed for fast* and convenient catheterisation

* No additional waiting time once the catheter has been wetted

Healthy Tips:

For Men: If you are not circumcised, pull back your foreskin and clean the area underneath to avoid a smegma ring forming which can cause irritation and soreness.

Discover SpeediCath® Flex

Designed to make every detail easier

"Of course, as an athlete, you demand a lot from your equipment. The same goes for catheters. You want the best material"

Peter Genyn, 40, SCI

Flexible, private and hygienic.

SpeediCath Flex is designed to make every step of catheterisation easy. The 44cm catheter has a dry sleeve that enables for hygienic handling through the urethra.

The benefits of SpeediCath Flex

- Flexible tip for smooth and easy passage through bends and strictures
- Dry-sleeve for clean and easy catheterisation
- Re-closable protective grip to protect tip and control insertion
- Re-closable for hygienic and discrete disposal

Gentle catheter fixation for a peaceful night's sleep.

Key Strengths

- Gentle re-adhesive pad with soft silicone technology
- No skin preparation required before application
- No sticky residue upon removal
- Easy to apply, remove and reposition, even over the same skin area
- Holds tubing away from skin to prevent discomfort
- Revolving clip allows natural movement of the catheter and leg

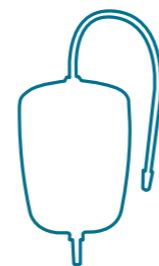

Night time fixation is an important part of catheter management. Using the Ugo Fix Gentle, a purpose designed fixation device, allows the catheter to move naturally with your body to help reduce the risk of pain and discomfort caused by pulling on the bladder neck and urethra – giving you a peaceful night's sleep.

The re-adhesive soft silicone gel pad minimises discomfort when removing and repositioning the device - leaving no sticky residue behind.

Catheter Accessories

Leg bags are attached to an indwelling catheter and are used for collecting urine. They are normally used during the day. A sterile bag should always be used with indwelling catheters. Leg bags are available with different tap styles for drainage. Capacities vary from 500-800mL.

Extended wear leg bags are washable leg bags - refer to manufacturer specifications for more information.

Drain or overnight bags are designed for single use and are used for collecting urine. They are normally non-sterile. Drain bags are available with different tap styles for drainage. Capacities range from 1500-2000mL.

Lubricants are used to minimise the risk of infection and trauma to the urethra (smoother insertion). Lubricant gels can come with or without anaesthetic.

Stabilisation devices are designed to ensure a catheter or urine collection bag stays in place while in use. Devices can be adhesive and non-adhesive (straps).

OMS-UFG-1400-Sept18

Healthy Tips:
Always wash your hands before and after handling your catheter.

Trial Results:

Urox clinical research shows statistically significant improvements over 2 months of treatment with:

- Total average day frequency returned to normal
- 60% reduction in urinary urgency & halving of nocturia
- 60% average reduction in urinary incontinence (both stress and urge)
- 75% of Urox users reduced their pad usage to one or less per day
- 23% of participants fully continent by 2 months
- Results seen in as little as 2 weeks.

Dosage: Take one capsule twice daily with meals. For faster results 2 capsules twice daily can be taken for the first month. Use only as directed. If symptoms persist, consult your healthcare professional.

Glossary Terms

Catheter balloon - anchors the catheter in place in the bladder when filled with sterile water to stated volume

Catheter Fixation - Devices used to secure the catheter to the clients leg to prevent the catheter falling out

Coude/Tiemann Tip Catheter - is a bent tip catheter used to drain the bladder when it is necessary to navigate the catheter around an obstruction such as an enlarged prostate

Drainage bags - are used for collecting urine. Can be either day or night drainage bags

French Gauge - The French scale or French gauge system is commonly used to measure the size of a catheter. It is most often abbreviated as FG, but can often be seen abbreviated as Fr, FR, CH.

Hydrogel coated Latex catheter - The hydrogel coating interlocks with the inner latex substrate to create a smooth and slippery surface and helps reduce urethral friction and irritation.

Hydrophilic coated catheter - have a layer of a pre-lubricated coating that is bound to the catheter surface. The pre-lubricated coating absorbs and binds water to the hydrophilic catheter, resulting in a thick, smooth and slippery surface.

Indwelling urethral catheter - enters the bladder via the urethra and is held in place via the catheter balloon

Indwelling suprapubic catheter - enters the bladder directly through the abdominal wall and is held in place via the catheter balloon

Intermittent Urinary Catheter - enters the bladder via the urethra and is removed once the bladder is emptied

Link up system - Overnight the day drainage bag system is connected to an overnight drainage bag and the tap of the day bag is opened to allow urine to drain in to the night drainage bag.

Lubricant - lubricates the urethra and enables an easier passage to pass the catheter through the urethra to the bladder.

Non Lubricated Catheter - catheter that has no lubricated coating

Paediatric - relating to the branch of medicine dealing with children and their diseases.

Prostate Gland - a gland surrounding the neck of the bladder in male mammals and releasing a fluid component of semen

Silicone catheter - 100% latex-free all-silicone Foley catheter is a translucent and inert material to enable visibility during urine drainage and reduced tissue irritation and encrustation.

Silver coated catheter - is a Foley catheter with a silver-based hydrogel coating (i.e. hydrogel containing silver) that are coated internally and externally

Urinary Catheter - is a hollow flexible tube that is inserted in to the bladder to drain urine

Urine drainage bag stand - This catheter urine bag holder suits most 2 litre drainage bags. It can be used as self standing or as a bedside hanger

Urinary retention - is the body's inability to completely empty the bladder after urination

Urethral stricture - is a narrowing of the urethra caused by injury, instrumentation, infection and certain non-infectious forms of urethritis.
